

TERROR IN CANADA

ACT! For Canada is indescribably saddened and outraged by the loss of two of our soldiers, Corporal Nathan Cirillo and Warrant Officer Patrice Vincent at the hands of Islamic terrorists. We are not only deeply angry at these killers but horrified that the imams and Muslim leaders would take this opportunity to play the victim-card as well as watching some of our vote-mongering leadership continue to pretend that this has “nothing to do with Islam”.

The loss of these two young soldiers is tragic. Nathan Cirillo and Patrice Vincent were the pride of our nation: brave, patriotic, generous-hearted, valiant individuals willing to give their lives for the country they loved. We mourn for their families and we mourn for our communities.

After the horrifying attack on two of our soldiers by car on Monday in St. Jean sur Richelieu, the very heart of our national identity was struck on Wednesday in Ottawa. The shooting at the War Memorial and the attempt to kill political leaders at the Canadian Parliament was an act of terror meant to send the message that Canada does not have honour, that the Jihadists hold our way of life in contempt and that our freedoms are repugnant to them.

The attack on our soldiers signals to Canadians that jihadists intend to destroy our civilization, with its admirable history and institutions.

Canada must not be cowed. Canada must not allow itself to seek any kind of accommodation with such a brutal foe. Such accommodation includes our timorousness about naming the enemy and making a clear connection between attacks on our soldiers and the supremacist ideology of Islam. Only by naming the threat we face can we even begin to take steps to oppose and defeat it.

For too long we have maintained the fiction (despite many attempted Jihad assaults and foiled plots) that we could stay on the sidelines of this civilizational war; that we might be spared the suffering our allies have faced. That was never the case, however, and now it is abundantly clear. We are in a war for the continuance of our cherished freedoms and way of life. Before we can hope to defeat our enemy, we must be clear about the roots and aim of the belligerent ideology that seeks our submission. We must be prepared to fight it honestly and without hesitation.

In 2 minutes, Rex Murphy sums up the Ottawa Shooting

Woman recalls efforts to save Cpl. Nathan Cirillo at War Memorial – when G-d sends an angel

In an emotional interview with As It Happens host Carol Off, Barbara Winters recalls her efforts trying to save the life of Cpl. Cirillo. "I told him you are loved. You are brave. You are good."

<http://www.cbc.ca/asithappens/episode/2014/10/23/woman-recalls-efforts-to-save-downed-soldier-at-war-memorial/>

"Yes, Barbara Winters, there is comfort here. The love and care you and the others so generously (and courageously) gave to Nathan Cirillo are the very last things that he experienced in his life. As you said, I'm quite sure that he was aware of your words of comfort and the love surrounding him at that terrible time. I'm very sure that his family are comforted to know that you were helping Nathan—that he was not alone. "In the valley of the shadow of death" there is often light. Barbara, you and your "team" were that light—not just for Nathan and his loved ones, but for the whole country. We salute you and thank you for your loving service. God bless all of you and may the soul of Nathan Cirillo rest in peace.”

A Direct Message from Brigitte Gabriel, founder and CEO of ACT! For America, to all Canadians

To our Canadian friends and family,

Our hearts and minds are with you today as we watch in horror what is transpiring in Canada. We pray for the safety and protection of all Canadians today but especially for the safety of those first responders who are the first line of defense of every city and every community.

Our thoughts are with those serving in uniform and their families protecting Canada, its freedoms and the democratic values Canada stands for.

United we stand with you in fighting hatred and bigotry. United we stand with you in mourning the loss of twenty-four-year-old Cpl. Nathan Cirillo and Warrant Officer Patrice Vincent on Monday. Our thoughts are with their families.

We are all Canadians today in heart and mind.

Canadian PM Calls Attacker “Terrorist”; vows “We Will Not be Intimidated”

Speaking for the first time since a gunman attacked parliament earlier today, Canadian Prime Minister Stephen Harper called the week's multiple assaults "a grim reminder that Canada is not immune to the types of terrorist attacks we have seen elsewhere around the world

Canadian PM calls possible terrorist attack a possible terrorist attack

Undoubtedly, there will be more criticism in the days to come of Harper not wasting any time referring to the attack on members of Canada's military as being a terrorist attack when it appeared to be a deliberate act by a radicalized Muslim who said he did it for Allah. In the days to come Liberal leader Justin Trudeau will no doubt have something to say. He's probably mourning Rouleau's death and bemoaning the fact he died so young before the root causes of his actions could be determined.

In wake of Ottawa shootings, Police Chiefs send letters to Muslim leaders inviting Muslims to contact them if they fear “backlash”

The politically correct Ottawa Police Chief seems to have imbibed the lesson well: after every jihad attack, Muslims are the victims, and need special reassurances. Of course, there should be no “backlash” against any innocent people and almost certainly won't be, but this endless pandering is grotesque. Who is reassuring non-Muslims about keeping them safe from jihad attacks? Who is calling upon Muslim leaders in Canada or anywhere else to back up their condemnations of jihad terror with real action against it, including programs to teach young Muslims to reject that understanding of Islam?

Justin Trudeau Statement – no comment.

“To our friends and fellow citizens in the Muslim community, Canadians know acts such as these committed in the name of Islam are an aberration of your faith. Continued mutual cooperation and respect will help prevent the influence of distorted ideological propaganda posing as religion. We will walk forward together, not apart. In the coming days, we will be inundated with pictures and videos showing what happened today.”

Another Letter to the Editor from our most dedicated and prolific letter writer, Len Bennett, proud member of ACT! For Canada

As we mourn the murders of Warrant officer Patrick Vincent and Cpl. Nathan Cirillo, Quebec Premier Philippe Couillard is reaching out to Muslims. “Radicalism and violence are not the solution to social unrest in the world.”

However, Islamic radicalism and violence are the problems we face and we cannot be so politically correct as to obfuscate reality. What we have witnessed this week is the product of the Muslim Brotherhood’s plan to take over the West. Radical Islam drives believers to jihadism, the moral duty to convert or slay the infidel.

The Muslim Brotherhood is the source of Sunni terrorism. It controls CAIR (Council on American Islamic Relations), which works to get Islamists integrated into our governments and military, ISNA (Islamic Society of North America), which focuses on the religious front, and MSA (Muslim Students' Associations), charged with perverting our college and campuses and publishing textbooks that denigrate Western society and prepare for the Caliphate.

As we reach out to those in our Muslim communities who are trying to reform Islam and who are appalled by this week's events, we must also protect Canada from being further damaged. We know 80% of our mosques are Saudi funded and reflect Wahhabism, the most radical form of Islam. We know some elements in these mosques promote jihadism and fund terrorists, including Hamas.

Canada must look to its future. We do not want to become like Britain, France, Norway and Sweden, where sharia has taken over neighbourhoods, where Jews live in fear and where Muslim gangs rape and prostitute children with impunity, as in Rotherham.

Canada must stop Islamic immigration. We must monitor mosques and Islamic organizations to ensure they comply with Canadian law. We must make our campuses safe for Jewish students once again by defunding the Muslim Students Associations and condemning their anti-Semitic programs, such as Israel Apartheid Week and the BDS movement. We must investigate the church and union groups who also foster these vile programs.

Europe is lost. It acts more and more like the Organization for Islamic Cooperation than the continent of culture, joie de vivre and freedom. Canada grew out of Europe, but we must not allow ourselves to follow its demise.

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL CANADIANS from Raheel Raza – Canada is under attack.

We know that the new enemy is an ideology and we have to defeat it in the way communism was defeated. Not by targeting the faith, but by targeting those who are using their faith to promote subversive agendas of violence and terrorism. This has to be done with active participation of government and citizens from all walks of life without resorting to hate and bigotry. We need to expose, educate and eradicate.

Canada's Jihad Denial

In the wake of the Ottawa shootings, the police chiefs of Toronto and Ottawa wrote to local Muslim leaders, assuring them of their good will and urging Muslims to contact them in case of a “backlash.” These politically correct police chiefs seem to have imbibed the lesson well: after every jihad attack, Muslims are the victims, and need special reassurances. Nathan Cirillo's Dogs Wait For Master To Return

Islamist Terrorism in Canada by Rachel Ehrenfeld

Despite ISIS proven brutality and heightened recruitment campaigns, many in the West, including the U.S. and Canada continue to chronically suffer from Political Correctness, refusing to identify the jihadist as Muslims. They all but ignore jihadist yelling Allah- Akbar while spraying bullets into crowds, or stabbing to death pedestrians. Instead, they claim these are misguided, or meanly ill individuals, refusing to acknowledge that while not all Muslims are jihadists, all jihadists are Muslims.

The latest attacks in Canada should serve as a wake up call to Canadian, Americans and the rest of the West: if you refrain from undermining the Islamist ideology, it will only grow stronger to destroy you.

12 Straight Years of Liberal Governments made Canada a rat's nest for Jihadists

Any day now Prime Minister Stephen Harper will be blamed by the lib-left and their running dog media hacks for this week's terrorist attacks in Ottawa and Quebec. That's because the lib-left, who always throw politics rather than effective stopgap measures at Islamic terrorism—which they refuse even to name—will move quickly to blame the terrorist attacks on Canada's participation in the current combat mission in Iraq. Meanwhile, countless jihadists were let into Canada during 12 straight years of Liberal governments, but it is destined to all be Prime Minister Stephen Harper's fault.

“In fact by 1998, every major terrorist group in the world was operating in Canada. Former CSIS director, Ward Elcock stated that, “with perhaps the singular exception of the United States, there are more international terrorist groups active here than any other country in the world.” (Stewart Bell)
