“Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power. Put on the full armor of God so that you can take your stand against the devil’s schemes. For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms.”

Montreal: Muslim Migrant Threatens to Kill Daughters for Not Wearing Hijab

The French-language publication Le Journal de Montréal reported Wednesday that “a Muslim Montrealer who repeatedly threatened his four daughters to kill them if they dared to remove their veils, in addition to repeatedly hitting them, was found guilty across the board.” All over the Islamic world, there are cases of Muslim women who have been brutalized and even killed for not wearing the hijab. In Canada itself, the Muslim father of a teenage girl named Aqsa Parvez choked her to death with her hijab after she refused to wear it.

Dangerous for anti-Semitic Canadian Nationalist Party to have access to voters list

Today, we have a new anti-Semitic party in Canada, one who's Jew-hatred forms a central plank of its platform. In 2019, the Canadian Nationalist Party satisfied the requirements set out by the Elections Act to be formally registered as a political party. This means that people who wish to financially support these anti-Semites can now receive a tax credit. It also means that racists have received a listing of all federal voters in Canada, with names and addresses - a complete electoral list giving the personal information of every Canadian voter puts anti-racists, human and civil rights workers, politicians, journalists and many others in potential jeopardy. Those who might wish to do harm now have access to what they need.

Cancel culture comes for Pierre Elliott Trudeau

There's an ongoing campaign by sovereigntists in Quebec to remove former Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's name from Montreal's airport, arguing he oppressed Quebecers. They want the Montreal-Trudeau International Airport renamed to honour, Rene Levesque, the late separatist premier of Quebec. Predictably, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's government has rejected changing the name of the airport honouring the late father of Justin Trudeau. The irony, however, is that Justin Trudeau and the Liberals have encouraged the mentality of people who believe in cancelling out the past.

Trudeau government promises to raise immigration rates 117%

The Trudeau government is committed to radically increase the number to immigrants coming to Canada this year. According to Blacklock's Reporter, Immigration Minister Marco Mendicino told the House of Commons immigration committee the government plans to increase the number of immigrants admitted to Canada from 184,370 in 2020 to 401,000 in 2021, an increase of 117%.

DELIVERED: 200,000 petition signatures to cut off expenses for former governors general.

The Canadian Taxpayers Federation delivered a petition signed by more than 200,000 Canadians calling on the Trudeau government to put an end to a decades-old policy that allows former governors general to bill taxpayers for $200,000 annually for expenses for the rest of their life.

Animal rights protesters could soon be jailed

Bill C-205 says "no person shall, without lawful authority or excuse, enter a building or other enclosed place in which animals are kept knowing that, or being reckless as to whether, entering such a place could result in the exposure of the animals to a disease or toxic substance." Penalties would range up to $250,000 fines and two years in prison. "However when someone crosses a line by entering or breaking into private property and putting the health of animals and farm families at risk, there have to be consequences."

Mr. Kovrig and Mr. Spavor remain locked up in Chinese jails while Ms. Meng is free on bail during her court battle and living in her $10-million Vancouver mansion. It shines a bright light on the contrast between how Ms. Meng is being treated by Canada's courts in an open procedure following international treaties and the rule of law and the situation facing Mr. Kovrig and Mr. Spavor in China.

BOMBSHELL: Stats Canada claims lockdowns, not COVID-19, are now driving 'excess deaths'

Doctors, academics, and health scientists have been warning for months that using lockdowns as a cure for COVID-19 will be far worse than the disease. Canada's national statistical agency stated in a report released yesterday that there are "excess deaths" in the country when compared to previous years, but those deaths are not due only to COVID-19, but are due increasingly to what it calls "indirect consequences of the pandemic," citing as examples "delayed medical procedures" due to lockdowns and "increased substance use."

C3RF Update –12 March 2021

This week's update examines the intricate collection of oaths and responsibilities that underpin our Westminster parliamentary system of governance. In the end, it is very much an honour-based enterprise that depends on good people keeping their promises to serve the public that cedes them their powers. Problem is, it's a delicate system that is easily de-stabilized by oath-breaking - even as tyranny waits in the wings.

COVID-19 UPDATES

One Year Later, Vindication for Lockdown Skeptics

One year ago, I tweeted: "This is what the Left wants. They want people stripped of wealth, isolated, and terrified. They want sources of joy—church, sporting events, vacations, large social gatherings—eliminated. This is how they get control. And it's far scarier than any virus."

It was not a popular sentiment at the time. Only in time of war has this country endured more permanent economic damage, more reckless government spending, or more widespread human suffering. This has been an unnecessary self-inflicted wound from which millions of families will never fully recover. And it's ongoing to this day.

Stanford Doctor, Calls Lockdowns the 'Biggest Public Health Mistake We've Ever Made'

Dr. Jay Bhattacharya, a professor at Stanford University Medical School, recently said that COVID-19 lockdowns are the "biggest public health mistake we've ever made...The harm to people is catastrophic."

Bhattacharya, who made the comments during an interview with the Daily Clout, co-authored the Great Barrington Declaration, a petition that calls for the end of COVID-19 lockdowns, claiming that they are "producing devastating effects on short and long-term public health."

Ethics Lens on COVID: A Year of Fear

Fear has been a cornerstone of public policy and that has had serious effects on priorities. Fear of what we can't see, fear of the stranger, and fear of the unknown. "The goal should not be to defeat the adversary at any cost but to preserve one's society," says French philosopher Bernard-Henri Levy. "People keep saying this is an unprecedented pandemic. That is not true. Humanity has had to deal with many pandemics, often more grave than this one. There seems to be an intention, a collective desire, to panic. It is not as big a disaster as we think."

Moderna's top scientist: 'We are actually hacking the software of life'

A person's genetic makeup is, as Dr. Zak said, "the software of life." If this is true, then who should be the ultimate authority over each human being's genetic software code? Shouldn't it be the number-one issue being debated in Congress and the media? Instead, nobody is allowed to even ask these questions without being threatened, censored, rebuked, de-platformed. Members of the corporate media who dare broach the question get fired. Anyone who tries to mandate the acceptance of an experimental gene-altering treatment is going against the international Nuremberg Codes, which require informed consent of any experimental treatment.

BIG TECH

If Congress Won't Take On Big Tech, Conservatives Have No Choice But To Build Their Own Internet

If you want to know who really runs our country, see who has the final say. It's not us, the citizens. It's not elected officials, either. When the leader of the free world is excommunicated from essentially all the platforms that are indispensable to public communication in the 21st century — and is offered no recourse — that's a sure sign certain private players hold too much power.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

The free speech crisis is not a right wing myth

Those who dismiss the free-speech crisis as a myth possess a shallow, instrumental view of the value of free speech. They simply do not take it seriously. And they certainly do not regard free speech as an inviolable moral good. Hence they can voice their nominal support for it in one breath, before, in the next, calling for the censorship of views they despise. That is why free-speech denialism often coexists with the conviction that it is okay to No Platform people.

ANTIFA

The Roots of Insurrection: Antifa Exposed

Even the name is a deception, for Antifa strives to overthrow liberal democracies and abolish capitalism. The group draws on dogma from Herbert Marcuse of the Frankfurt School, considered the “father of the New Left.” It believes that there is no objective reality or truth; that tolerance means suppression of the intolerant; and that unacceptable opinions are “violent.” Large factions of the Left sympathize with Antifa; some in academia, corporations, and Big Tech assist it in silencing opponents.

Now that Pepé Le Pew has been 'cancelled,' who will be next? Marge Simpson? By Rex Murphy

Where did New York Times columnist Charles M. Blow get his wild ideas and careless slanders of the skunk community? “Your column, Sir, is a haystack, a pyramid of straw, of prejudicial assumptions. 13-Year-Old Muslim Student Admits She Made up Story That Led to French Teacher's Beheading

A 13-year-old Muslim student in France has admitted that she fabricated the story that led to a school teacher being beheaded last year. The student claimed that her teacher Samuel Paty had showed an image of Muhammed during a lesson on free speech, which he had asked the Muslim students to leave the room for. Once her tall tale made it online, an outrage mob ensued and the teacher began to receive death threats.

Far from a deliberate flirtation with the far-Right, as Le Monde suggests, the muddled debate on Islamism is more a symptom of a new Macronist

IRAN

Tehran on My Mind by Phyllis Chesler

Iran's vision remains that of a Shi'a caliphate, ruling over as much land as it can conquer. This is primarily a religious holy war, not part of a rational political plan. Think of it as a theological cult which is religiously forbidden to compromise, but which can deceive as necessary. Perhaps western counter-terrorism experts already know this; perhaps not. But what about government leaders who believe they can appease Iran, pay them off, trust them, believe them, invest in their country—negotiate with them in good faith? Please know with whom you are dealing and act accordingly.

Switzerland votes to ban the niqab in public

There is nothing more offensive as a symbol to free societies in which men and women have equal rights than face cover on a woman. The niqab and burka are symbols of gender apartheid. They are not clothing any more than an Antifa mask is. They are also ideological symbols associated with Islamic triumphalism. Would men wearing black ski masks on their faces routinely in the streets and stores and parks be tolerated, as they must be at violent protests? Of course not.

My Democrat Friends are Getting Very Embarrassed

Now that the implications of the Harris/Biden administration are setting in, my Democrat friends (yes, I do have a few) are becoming very embarrassed. They bought into the propaganda that all the turmoil in Washington was created by the erratic and immoral behavior of Donald Trump. Their vote for Harris/Biden was a vote to return to normal. They didn't realize that the Democrats weren't offering a return to normal; they were offering the establishment of a "new normal." My friends who voted Democrat unwittingly facilitated the transformation of Washington D.C. into Pyongyang, North Korea.

Jill Biden, the Meghan Markle in the WH, is egregiously guilty of elder abuse

The millions of Americans who were paying attention throughout the 2020 election campaign all became painfully aware of the fact that Joe Biden's cognitive abilities were slipping and slipping fast. His wife, as the person closest to him, should have been the one to call the campaign quits in order to reduce stress on the man. Instead, apparently so anxious to become the first lady by any means necessary, Mrs. Biden continued to push her failing husband's campaign forward as if he were mentally qualified. All those around him knew as well he was in the throes of dementia; it was impossible to miss the signs.

Phil Haney's warning to America: Did he know something that got him killed?

"They changed the narrative by calling it the Great Reset, in my opinion, which is new language for what was previously the new world order," she said. "They have to change the nomenclature because no matter how much they push this agenda of globalism, nobody wants any part of it ... so they constantly rebrand. It was in the 1970s global warming, then when they couldn't prove there was any historic warming it became climate change, then sustainable development. Just like it's no longer socialism-communism; now under the Great Reset they call it inclusive capitalism."

Fomenting Race Wars by Linda Goudsmit

It does not matter that Trump is NOT a racist, never was a racist, or that Trump's policies were extremely beneficial to the black, Hispanic, and Asian communities in America. Trump and his entire conservative/populist movement must be portrayed as racist in order to foment race riots. Even President Trump's support of law enforcement and ordered liberty have been perverted by the radical Democrats into racist attacks on white police officers. Yet again, the leftist Democrats project their own racist policies onto their targeted enemy.
