“Society will develop a new kind of servitude which covers the surface of society with a network of complicated rules, through which the most original minds and the most energetic characters cannot penetrate. It does not tyrannise but it compresses, enervates, extinguishes, and stupefies a people, till each nation is reduced to nothing better than a flock of timid and industrious animals, of which the government is the shepherd.”

Journalists win legal battle against Antifa-linked Canadian Anti-Hate Network

An Ottawa judge has dismissed a case against journalists Jonathan Kay and Barbara Kay, which accused them of libel. The case was brought forth by the Canadian Anti-Hate Network (CAHN), which had previously received government funding for its programs. The suit was brought forth by Richard Warman, a board member of the group, in 2019. According to Jonathan Kay, Warman had claimed that the two defendants linked the organization to Antifa. The judge concluded that "the evidence disclosed that CAHN did in fact assist Antifa and that movement has been violent."

Pipeline Protesters' Violent Attacks in BC a Ticking Time Bomb

While the world's eyes were on Ottawa as the standoff between the truckers' Freedom Convoy protest and authorities hit its peak, one of the boldest acts of domestic eco-terrorism ever seen in Canada was committed against a construction camp in Northern B.C. Just after midnight on Feb. 18, 20 masked attackers armed with axes attacked staff at a Coastal GasLink (CGL) site, terrorizing workers and causing millions of dollars in damage. Violent activists in B.C. are entrenched and emboldened by a lack of action from authorities. Will it take deaths or bombings before the nation takes this festering crisis more seriously?

Blatant Media Double-Standards:

Apparently, the media and Justin Trudeau's Liberals were greatly offended and took the opportunity to smear the Freedom Convoy over 2 confederate flags and Nazi flags (the holders of which were condemned and told to go home) but the media doesn't care when CUPE and Ontario teacher union protesters are slathered in communist and socialist flags and banners.

Canada is not a serious country with Harrison Faulkner

Just when you thought Canadians couldn't be any more embarrassed, it was revealed this week Justin Trudeau will become the first world leader to appear on a drag television show to appear as a guest host. It's not like there are other things that should be preoccupying his time, right? 40-year high inflation? Soaring food prices? Crumbling military and plummeting enlistment rates? Veterans going without support? No! Let's make sure to judge drag queens first.

VIDEO: More Ridiculous Mask Theatre from Trudeau

Just look at Trudeau after he got 'boosted'. It's amazing how the mask is necessary, and then not necessary, based on the needs of a media engagement. How interesting. Very scientific. Of course, the real issue isn't that Trudeau does this, but that people fall for it.

Trudeau's Liberal MP's Being Paid to Work for Foreign Governments

In 2017, 56 foreign-born members, 22 with dual or triple citizenship, hold seats in House of Commons and Senate. CBC News confirmed at least 22 Members of Parliament currently hold citizenships from other countries. For his current incarnation of a Liberal Cabinet, Justin Trudeau has assembled a socialist SWAT team of political players. Minister of Multiculturalism, MP Ahmed Hussen, is a half-citizen of Somalia. Minister of Transportation, MP Omar Alghabra, is a citizen of Syria. Minister of Canadian Heritage, MP Pablo Rodriguez, is a shaggy-haired communist enthusiast from Argentina.

Rex Murphy: Danielle Smith isn't threatening our Confederation. She may be saving it

In a period of vague national identity (post-national), having abandoned any central or defining principles (no core values), it is natural that the constituent parts of the Confederation (the provinces), which strongly maintain their "local" identities, will exert a stronger push, a more vigorous agenda in pursuing their place in the nation. And, not incidentally, provide the nation with its otherwise missing character

The Media Doesn't Care About Radical Communist/Socialist Flags and Signs At Union Protests

During the Freedom Convoy protest in Ottawa, when on the first two days of the protest a couple of confederate flags and a Nazi flag were spotted in the crowd. The holders of the flags were either never seen shortly thereafter or told to leave. Regardless of the truckers and their supporters not wanting those flags near their protest, the legacy media, and Justin Trudeau's Liberal government still used the brief presence of the flags to smear the entire Freedom Convoy as "racist" and "extreme".

Now cut to the CUPE and teacher union protests/strikes that took place in Ontario last week. There were a large number of flags from "Socialist Action", the Communist Party of Canada, booths set up by an organization called "Fightback" (which operates a website called Marxist.ca), and even some ANTIFA flags. Unsurprisingly the legacy media chose not to notice the pervasive presence of socialist and communist flags at the union protests at Queens Park over the weekend.

Canadian Sports Organization Should Quit Its Activism for Transgender Athletes in Women's Sport

As a response to our national embarrassment around the doping scandals of the 1980s, the Canadian Centre for Ethics in Sport (CCES) was established to ensure that cheating in sport would never recur. For two decades, CCES concentrated on its primary function: keeping banned substances out of sport. Then its leadership went woke, and CCES became a full-time advocacy group for male athletes who identify as women, relentlessly promoting their right to compete against women.

Alberta Health Services consigns patients to death, based on vaccine status

"I am shocked and appalled my ability to get life-saving surgery depends upon me taking a new drug with Health Canada warning labels that is still in the experimental stage. I am under extreme duress knowing my choice not to comply will result in the loss of my life. I cannot give informed consent under duress." "Taking these vaccines goes against my conscience; the vaccines are still in clinical trials and will be until at least 2023. There is no long-term safety data available, and I am afraid of how this vaccine may affect me in the long-term. Given my fragile state of health, I cannot risk participation in an experimental drug trial."

Real Hope in Alberta

Dr Makis explains how quickly a legitimate provincial government can fix things and let the healing begin. Currently, most of Canada continues its downward spiral into Bill Gates' genocidal dystopia. The Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons in all our provinces have devotedly served the covid agenda and been ring leaders in crimes against humanity. They continue unrepentant; but there is tangible hope in Alberta.

A national disgrace: Sir John A. Macdonald statue remains entombed as Premier Ford remains AWOL on the issue

The glorious statue of Sir John A. Macdonald remains boarded up, his head shrouded in a garbage bag. It's been more than two years now since this desecration kicked in, and one ponders: how did a statue honouring our country's first prime minister become the equivalent of granite-based pornography? So, what happened in the meantime? Well, just two years later it turned out that the Queen's Park Sir John statue was too "triggering" to those delightful "mostly peaceful protesters" who make up the rank-and-file of Black Lives Matter.

Shocking Outcome: Bullet Shot Through Town Councillor's Window

I think that we can agree that Covid-19 has brought out the worst in people. Exactly inline with the globalist's Agenda. Divide and conquer. Pit Canadians against one and other. Use mass psychosis, emotional manipulation and fear. The result has been alarming to say the least. Grant Abbott's story is just one of many. But one that must be heard. Shocking fact: the window in the above image is an actual photo of Mr. Abbott's front room window in his home.

Veteran Tells Inquiry Police 'Dumped' Him Without Charges 10km From City Core During Convoy Protest

A wounded combat veteran who served in Afghanistan told the Public Order Emergency Commission on Friday that he was arrested, beaten, and "dumped" far from downtown Ottawa without charges by police during the clearing operation of the Freedom Convoy protest on Feb. 18. After being arrested and while waiting to be processed, Deering asked police if he could kneel or sit as he was in chronic pain, and that he needed to be able to take his medication, but his requests were denied.

Testimonies and information which have surfaced so far at the commission examining the invocation of the act, dispute the claim about the stance from the RCMP and the OPP. RCMP Commissioner Brenda Lucki told Liberal ministers on Feb. 13 that not all tools had been exhausted before invoking the act. OPP Commissioner Thomas Carrique told the commission on Oct. 27 that he agreed with Lucki's "sentiment" on the matter.

Freedom Convoy Posed No 'Overriding Public Safety Concerns,' Says Ontario Deputy Solicitor General

The deputy solicitor general for Ontario told the Emergencies Act inquiry on Thursday that the Freedom Convoy protest in Ottawa last winter did not pose a significant public safety risk. "From my perspective, what we did not see is any serious violence taking place at that point in time. So, no murders, shootings, robbery, stabbings, aggravated assaults, nothing of that sort. So, from my perspective, no overriding public safety concerns at that point in time," said Di Tomasso, who was addressing his Feb. 3 handwritten notes relating to a call with Stewart.

A report authored by a police consultant and distributed by the former Ottawa Police Service (OPS) chief says the Freedom Convoy protests were a "movement by right wing Christians" who wished to attract followers. COVID-19 UPDATES

Long-Term Organ Damage After COVID-19 Vaccines Emerging in Medical Literature

Observation time in research is very important to evaluate the emergence of problems, particularly for the long-lasting mRNA vaccines and their biologic product, the coronavirus Spike protein. For a typical live-attenuated, killed, or antigen-based vaccine, the minimum period for safety observation in clinical development is 2 years. For genetic products which includes mRNA and adenoviral DNA, the minimum time is 5 years.

COVID Amnesty? How About Unconditional Surrender?

Not only did you impose your mask empire and distancing fancies on us, but you shut down our businesses as part of a COVID regulation regime; destroyed livelihoods; impoverished people; caused untold numbers of lockdown-induced, secondary-effect deaths; and tried coercing us into taking the GTAs under pain of career destruction, firing tens of thousands of Americans who resisted your will. Why, CNN medical analyst Dr. Leana Wen, cheered on by millions of you and speaking for many more, actually said that people such as me, GTA realists, should be prohibited from participating in society and banished to our homes. You also censored us when we dared explain our dissent, said we were killing people and impugned our character and patriotism.

Pfizer Appears to Have Corrupted the Entire Western World

Christine Anderson is getting at an important point, which must be researched. There is evidence that Pfizer and Pfizer's CEO Albert Bourla have corrupted government leaders worldwide. That this corruption is deep and wide. The people have been lied to. It was a gigantic lie. And on this lie, everything that governments, especially in the Western democracies did to infringe on people's rights, to take away their freedom, to lock them in their homes, imposing curfews, all of this was based on that gigantic lie.

More Health Benefits of Quercetin Revealed

Quercetin¹ is an antioxidant flavanol found naturally in foods such as apples, plums, red grapes, green tea, elder flower and onions, just to name a few.² According to a 2022 LinkedIn report, the quercetin market is growing rapidly as its health benefits are becoming more widely known, with a projected global market of $406 million by 2027. Quercetin has been shown to combat inflammation and acts as a natural antihistamine. In fact, its antiviral capacity appears to be the primary focus of many studies looking at quercetin's benefits, and a number of studies have highlighted quercetin's ability to prevent and treat both the common cold and influenza.

As long as society believes that "transing" kids are about human rights, if this fiction is kept intact, Big Pharma has squads of ignorant army soldiers spewing "Transwomen are real women." Other lazy citizens jump on the bandwagon, just like people in Germany did with Hitler. Sure, people didn't feel quite right about it, but they kept quiet. I do not. I also can convey a message, coupled with my experience with having gone through a medical transition, having my own kids at the age they are transitioning kids, and instantly I am the biggest threat to the medicalization of children.

The red wave that wasn't: An election post-mortem

Well, that was disheartening, dispiriting, and demoralizing. Our election system is completely corrupt. It's easy to blame the GOP for letting that happen, but Mollie Hemingway reminds us that a corrupt judge and a forty-year-long consent decree meant that, beginning in 1981, "The RNC had been prohibited by law from helping with poll watcher efforts or nearly any voting-related litigation." Thanks to COVID, the Democrats were able to build high walls for that fortress, walls built from mail-in ballots; drop boxes; ballot-harvesting; driver's licenses for illegal aliens; no ID for actual elections; endless pre-elections; and, most importantly, machines that can be gamed.

There WOULD Have Been a Red Wave, But.....

"One thing I know already. If not for voters under 30 ... tonight WOULD have been a Red Wave. What he is crowing about is the apparent fact that the voting group with the least life experience and the most recent subjection to the Leftist indoctrination that dominates America's educational system ended up voting as it was brainwashed to do. Gee, that's terrific, if you like evidence of the success of the relentless propagandizing of a vulnerable and impressionable captive audience.

What all those Democrats voted for in the midterm election

So, the red tsunami did not exactly materialize at midterms, but thankfully, numerous Republicans did win. They flipped some House seats; the Senate is still up in the air. Given all the polls that show about 80% of Americans believe the country is headed in the wrong direction and that Biden's approval ratings are in the tank, how do we explain the Democrat wins? Let's take a look at what those Democrats voted for, what they supported this past Tuesday.

Tuesday Takeaways by Victor Davis Hanson

Election Night also no longer exists. Returns are not counted for days. It is intolerable for a modern democracy to wait and wait for all sorts of different ballots both cast and counted under radically different and sometimes dubious conditions. The Democrats—with overwhelming media and money advantages—have mastered these arts of massive and unprecedented early, mail-in, and absentee voting. Old-fashioned Republicans count on riling up their voters to show up on Election Day. But it is far easier to finesse and control the mail-in ballots than to “get out the vote.”

<https://www.frontpagemag.com/tuesday-takeaways/>

American Democracy

We, the people, play the game that the politicians want us to play, by their rules, that benefits them and not us. We become invested in the outcomes of these elections. We become emotional, and sometimes enraged. Friends are lost. Families are divided. We yell. We scream. We accuse. We condemn. All because of which one of the ego-maniacal, fast talking, corrupted politicians each one of us is supporting. And every single one of the candidates who won their election will be much wealthier two years from now, while most of us who didn't donate thousands of dollars to their campaigns will be much worse off.

2022 Midterms: Voters Prefer Sanity

In the runup to the midterms, the former president, as always, prioritized himself, teasing the press with the idea that he was about to announce his own candidacy. Trump spent election night—shocker—focusing on himself. By Wednesday, he had moved on to negging Ron DeSantis—the only Republican who actually delivered the promised red wave, winning Florida by a massive 20 points, and who is currently dealing with a hurricane. (And is the biggest stumbling block separating Trump from the GOP presidential nomination in 2024.)

Midterm madness: the only clear winner is paranoia

In the fervid political atmosphere of twenty-first-century America, any sober analysis of the results is difficult for Republicans and Democrats. These days, everything must be portrayed as triumph or disaster. Every loss at the ballot must be another descent towards authoritarianism, civil war or American Gomorrah. Every victory is a last-ditch win for freedom over tyranny. It's not surprising that voter participation keeps going up. America's politicians are bullying the public against apathy. Don't you care about the end of western civilization?

VOTING IN FRANCE

- Paper ballots tucked in paper envelopes. No absentee voting, and no early voting either. French voters use old-school system that has defied calls for more flexibility or modernization.
- Voters make their choices in a booth, with the curtains closed, then place their ballot in an envelope that is then put into a transparent ballot box. They must show photo identification and sign a document, next to their name, to complete the process.
- Machine-voting has been allowed on an experimental basis, but the purchase of new machines has been frozen since 2008 due to security concerns.
- Last year, Macron's centrist government tried to pass an amendment to allow early voting by machine to encourage electoral participation amid the COVID-19 pandemic. The Senate, led by a conservative majority, rejected the measure.

The ex-Nazi Corp behind anti-racism is buying up book publishing

Bertelsmann has conquered and gutted American publishing's crown jewels. The book spines beloved to generations of readers are now just assets to a corporate office in Westphalia which uses them to distribute racist hate across America.

That includes promoting Ta-Nehisi Coates's claim in "Between the World and Me" that the 9/11 firefighters and police officers were "menaces of nature" and "not human to me" to 9th graders and Robin DiAngelo's racist "White Fragility" whose message, as CNN summed up, is that "if you're a white person... you're a racist." How They Count Votes in Brazil

Lula returned to the presidency via the general collapse of the Constitution and Brazilian laws throughout the electoral process – the result of an unprecedented meddling of the judiciary, which was entirely illegal in each step of the process. Basically, Supreme Court justices and its electoral arm, the Superior Electoral Tribunal, put together piece by piece a mechanism designed to favour the leftist candidate. The first step was for these unelected judges to simply overturn the four criminal convictions against Lula and, with it, perform the "magic" of disappearing with all the dirty record which precluded him from being a candidate.

WE REMEMBER

November 13, 2015 - The Bataclan

On Friday, November 13, 2015, a series of co-ordinated Islamist terrorist attacks took place in France. The attacks were the deadliest since the Second World War and the deadliest in the European Union since the Madrid train bombings of 2004. The terrorists killed 130 people, including 90 at the Bataclan theatre. Another 416 people were injured, almost 100 critically.

It took 7 years for a verdict in France's 'trial of the century'. On June 30, 2022, lead terrorist, Salah Abdeslam -- the only person directly involved in the planning who's still alive -- received the heaviest sentence under French law: life in prison without parole.
