"Bribery, Collusion" says Ex-Ambassador to China Regarding Election Interference

"Globe and Mail journalists viewed secret documents from Canada's most senior security agency that alleged that Chinese diplomats in Canada have recruited or pressed proxies to smear candidates deemed critical of China and funded the campaigns of their rivals, in a program aimed at preventing the Conservative Party from winning elections in 2019 and 2021." From Yukon to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, our entire populous could call for similar action, and it won't make a speck of difference:

Rejects Calls for Public Inquiry Into Foreign Interference as Opposition Parties Unite

Trudeau is under increasing pressure, with the Conservative Party and the Bloc Québécois joining the NDP on March 1 in calling for an inquiry. Conservative Party Leader Pierre Poilievre said his party supports an inquiry, but that it has to be independent and public. "All parties in the Parliament must agree on who the commissioner is. We cannot have yet another Liberal crony named to head up this inquiry," said Poilievre.

Liberals Attacking Liberals for The Chinese Government?

No doubt that all of you are already aware of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) election interference scandal currently hitting Prime Minister Justin Trudeau and the Liberal Party. Obviously, it appears that not only did the CCP work inside of Canada to push pro-Beijing candidates (mostly in the GTA), but that it seems like Trudeau and the Liberals knew about it and did nothing, as the CCP actors were mostly backing Liberal politicians.

Liberals 'Ignored CSIS,' Tory MP Says, as Report Alleges Liberal MP Was a 'Witting Affiliate' in Beijing's Interference Efforts

A Global News report published on Dec. 7, 2022, had said that Trudeau had been warned by intelligence officials as early as January 2022 about Beijing's vast influence efforts in the 2019 election, including its funding of a network of at least 11 federal candidates. Trudeau and his officials have denied being aware of Chinese funding going to the 11 candidates.

Ratio'd | Is this the end for Justin Trudeau?

The NDP are beginning to break ranks with Trudeau's Liberals over the Chinese election interference scandal. Opposition MPs are currently debating the details of a national public inquiry into foreign interference – which the Prime Minister has refused to commit to opening himself. The NDP and Conservatives are united in their calls to form an inquiry, signalling the first cracks in the foundation that supports Justin Trudeau's leadership of Canada – his support agreement with the NDP.

Trudeau Commits to Passing on Pro-China Politics to His Children

A recent controversy surrounding Chinese government interference in the past two Canadian federal elections continues to dig up dirt on alleged illicit behaviour. The Trudeau Family-Liberal Party-Communist China connection is a multi-generational political reality. It's time the entire charade is fully exposed, bringing an end to media obfuscation that has surrounded the Trudeau family for the past five decades. "The friendship toward China that my father taught me, I'm hoping to pass on not only to my children, but to generations of Canadians in the future." - Justin Trudeau -

Rebel News journalist assaulted by taxi driver at Roxham Road

Canadians face a burden problem because they are the ones who are funding all the expenses regarding this illegal immigration. 82% of illegals crossing at Roxham Road are put up in taxpayer-funded hotels, and those outside of hotels are displacing homeless people in Montreal shelters. Human traffickers, those operating at taxi services, are part of an upstate New York cottage industry, bringing people to the border for a fee. Some are upfront about what they do, and others want to remain in the shadows.

Canadian Security Intelligence Service accused of 'Islamophobia' over surveillance in Muslim communities

This entire article is predicated upon the unspoken assumption that every community is equally likely to produce terrorists. On the basis of that, the authors cast the CSIS' surveillance within the Muslim community as "Islamophobic." But the grim reality is that many more terrorists come from the Muslim community than from, say, the Mennonite or Amish or Anglican communities. The CSIS would be derelict in its duty if it ignored that in the interests of appeasing the Left. But given the situation in Canada today, watch for that dereliction of duty to become reality, if it hasn't already.

Pierre Poilievre Casts Doubt on His Commitment to End Cancel Culture & Stand Up to Wokeness

Not only did he humiliate his own MPs — including the popular Ms. Lewis — but he did Trudeau an enormous favour, by interrupting the national media's recent interest in Trudeau's affiliations with the Communist Party of China and that country's interference in Canadian elections. Like a hockey player scoring a goal on his own net, Poilievre "proved" that his party was indeed racist by accepting the accusation, and legitimizing what would have otherwise been a fringe story shopped around by a couple of cranks.

The Law of Rule

On a broader level, Rouleau's ruling effectively breaks the seal on the Emergencies Act. After 34 years on the shelf, many of the questions surrounding the act have now been answered:

- Would the act be used in peace time?
- Would it be used against peaceful protesters?
- Would it be used to suspend basic charter rights?

Would the government rig the inquiry into the emergency declaration by appointing a political crony and giving him a narrowly defined mandate that is bound to produce a report that exonerates the government?

The answer to all of these questions is a resounding: "You bet!"

<https://www.corbettreport.com/the-law-of-rule/>

What went wrong with the Public Order Emergency Inquiry?

The explanation for why Rouleau can arrive at the conclusion he did while admitting that others might reasonably disagree is because of the "reasonable grounds" standard. The federal government did not need conclusive proof that there were acts or threats of serious violence for ideological purposes. They only needed to show there were "reasonable grounds" to believe that there were. If anything, it seemed like the Freedom Convoy was remarkable for its lack of violence, especially for a protest of its size. Any violence that did occur was minor and atypical of the protest dynamic.

"The Lancet study's vindication of natural immunity fits a pandemic pattern: The public-health clerisy rejects an argument that ostensibly threatens its authority; eventually it's forced to soften its position in the face of incontrovertible evidence; and yet not once does it acknowledge its opponents were right." Well, no. Pride is like that, and clerisies tend toward vanity. But the reason I'm so encouraged by this rumour about a report expressing uncertainty is that we are now debating it.

The case for the lab-leak theory grows stronger by the day

On Sunday, it emerged that the US Department of Energy has changed its mind on the likely origins of the Covid pandemic. ## The sinister cruelty of lockdown has been laid bare

Nothing could be more in the public interest than knowing the thinking behind an ideology and a policy that wrecked civil liberty, suspended democracy, sickened the elderly, hurt the working classes, quarantined the developing world, and led to a suspension of that most key of civilised endeavours: the education of children. A pandemic hit, and the political elite, and the media elite, opted for social tyranny, censorship, non-debate, classism and fearmongering over taking a more rational, liberal, focused approach to the risk of disease. We need to know all about this, so that we might guard against it in the future.

Burning the vinyl chloride was an act of ecological terrorism and a crime against nature and human civilization. Put another way, by setting fire to the vinyl chloride, the railroad turned their relatively non-toxic product into an insanely toxic chemical bomb and released it into the open air.

To call this a "controlled burn" is a crime. The media is gaslighting the entire nation by refusing to report on dioxins. Whoever set fire to this vinyl chloride in an open ditch just carried out the worst act of ecological terrorism ever recorded in North America.

First off, there is the reality that the "green" agenda is just communism by another name, even though the useful idiots really do believe it's about conserving and preserving the environment. In a surprising turn in her career as a world-renowned climate advocate, Greta Thunberg has joined a protest calling for the demolition of wind turbines in Norway. Lying at the heart of the matter is the claim that the two wind farms in question were built directly on reindeer grazing lands

Islam's War on the Past

The consequences of this covert invasion are glaringly evident in many European nations where Islamic no-go zones have proliferated, Sharia law has been incrementally introduced, thoroughfares have become prayer venues, welfare subsidies have been depleted, jihadist recruitment has escalated, rape has acquired the magnitude of a grooming epidemic (the true "rape culture"), and Muslim voting blocs can determine the outcome of elections, as conniving politicians are well aware. Such are the conditions that Western compromisers, accommodationists and tolerists, priding themselves on their putatively enlightened ideas, are ensuring for their progeny, if not for themselves.

Up to 400 pupils at around 30 schools are said to have been affected by the "deliberate" attacks, with some needing hospital treatment after complaining about headaches, heart palpitations, feeling lethargic and being unable to move. There are many highly abusive tactics used in the Islamic world to keep women in their place, under the control of the male arbiters of the Sharia, such as stoning, honor murder, public flogging, wife beating and female genital mutilation. Poisoning girls is in keeping with all this.

By suspending those students and logging their behaviour as a 'hate incident', the school and police are effectively saying that the mob has a point – that the boys should be punished for 'disrespecting' Islam's holy book. You'd be forgiven for thinking that Wakefield had become an Islamic theocracy overnight. This is blasphemy law by the backdoor – and by caving in to mob intolerance the authorities have done nothing to remove the target from these boys' backs. Instead of condemning Carlson and Speaker McCarthy, all loyal Americans should be thanking them for deciding that “we the people” ought to be trusted with the facts, not spoon-fed them selectively. Heck, the Democrats didn’t even think we could be trusted with knowing how much surveillance video existed. For months, we have been told there were 14,000 hours of raw footage, but now we find out it is actually as much as 44,000 hours. Did anyone on the Jan. 6 committee even try to wade through that footage to see if it confirms their pre-established narrative of an armed insurrection? Or were they afraid of what they would find?

Words Matter—so Do Accurate Posting Dates!

The social engineers driving the war on America and on humanity are sociopaths and megalomaniacs. They are skilled strategists, and omitting the posting year is a significant tactical maneuver in their overall strategic plan. The seriousness of omitting the year in posting dates cannot be overstated. The omission compromises the material so that researchers cannot state with certainty the facts to make a case in opposition to current, approved political narratives. Without an accurate reference, the omission creates a political vacuum for validating information. If the schemers prevail, the Great Reset will not only reset the economic clock to zero. It will also reset the historical clock to zero. The globalists will have total control of the information past, present, and future. GAME OVER.

A Contagion of Cowardice

The best case for heroism over careerism and cowardice is to look back over these three years and observe just how much difference a few can make when they are willing to stand up for truth even when there is a big price to be paid for doing so. Such people can change everything. This is because ideas are more powerful than armies and all the propaganda that a machinery of power can muster. One statement, one study, one sentence, one small effort to puncture the wall of lies can bring down the whole system.

And then the contagion of cowardice comes to be replaced by a contagion of truth. Those who stood up for that form of contagion deserve our respect and gratitude. They also deserve to survive and thrive in the new renaissance that so many today are working to build.

The Uselessness, Risk, and Extreme Danger of Physical Mass Protest as a Solution to Tyranny

It is easier to pretend to seek freedom than to actually do something of real consequence to take and sustain it. The easy way out is most always sought by the common man, especially as a collective mob, where the presumed safety of numbers is more important than any effort to gain and sustain freedom where risk is inherent. Obviously, at least concerning the masses, it is much more important to appear to be doing something worthwhile, than it is to actually fight for something so important as one's own liberty, especially where any chance of exposure is present. If any possibility of uncertainty, social embarrassment, ostracism or rejection, or danger exists, most seek the comfort of the herd, hiding in a sea of avoidance and ignorance.
